DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments concerning the restriction requirement filed 1/23/01 have been fully considered and they have resulted in a re-evaluation of the restriction requirement. While the arguments include the statement that "The classification set forth in the Office Action for claims 12-16, i.e., class 310 subclass 316.03, is in error" based on the headings used to describe that subclass, these claims are a best fit for that subclass. The re-evaluation has resulted in however, regrettably, an oversight by the Office. The original election/restriction more properly contains three groups of claims not the two groups of the original restriction requirement. Therefore the original election/restriction requirement is hereby withdrawn in favor of the election/restriction requirement enumerated below.

Election/Restriction

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-6 and 17-26, drawn to A DRIVING CIRCUIT OR METHOD FOR A PIEZOELECTRIC ACTUATOR, classified in class 310, subclass 317.
 - II. Claims 7-11, drawn to A PIEZOELECTRIC ACTUATOR, classified in class 310, subclass 323.17.

Art Unit: 2834

III. Claims 12-16, drawn to A DISCHARGING CIRCUIT FOR A PIEZOELECTRIC DEVICE, classified in class 310, subclass 316.03.

3. Inventions of Group I and of Group II are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the actuator can be driven by another drive circuit. The subcombination has separate utility such as a drive circuit for a magnetostrictive or electro-magnetic device.

4. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Group I and of Group II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention of Group I has separate utility such as a motor component, alternatively the invention of Group II has separate utility as a valve discharge circuit. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Inventions of Group II and of Group III are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the actuator can be driven by another drive circuit. The subcombination has separate utility such as a drive circuit for a magnetostrictive or electro-magnetic device.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for any of the groups is not required for any other of the groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Thomas M. Dougherty whose telephone number is (703) 308-1628.
